Medicare Distinction

For INTEGRITY members: Neighborhood Health Plan of Rhode Island (Neighborhood) uses guidance from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) for coverage determinations, including medical necessity. Coverage determinations are based on applicable payment policies, National Coverage Determinations (NCDs), Local Coverage Determinations (LCDs), Local Coverage Articles (LCAs), and other available CMS published guidance.

In the absence of an applicable or incomplete NCD, LCD, or other CMS published guidance OR if available Medicare coverage guidance is not met, then Neighborhood will apply coverage guidance from the Rhode Island Executive Office of Health & Human Services (EOHHS), or other peer-reviewed scientific evidence, such as InterQual® and/or internal Clinical Medical Policies as a means of secondary coverage through the members' Medicaid benefit.

Description

The HCBS Final rule general description of Assisted Living as the following: An "assisted living residence" (ALR) refers to any residence licensed by the State pursuant to R.I.G.L. 23.17-4 and regulated by the Rhode Island Department of Health (DOH) in accordance with R23-17.4-ALR. For the purposes of these provider certification standards, ALRs are considered a community-setting and not a medical institution or health facility because assisted living does not include 24-hour skilled nursing care and the living environment is a home-like setting. 'Home-like' means an environment having the qualities of a home, including privacy, comfortable surroundings, and the opportunity to decorate one's living area and arrange furnishings to suit one's personal preferences. A home-like environment provides opportunities for self-expression, encourages interaction with the community, family, and friends, allows for control over one's own schedule, ensures freedom from coercion and restraint, and has a legally enforceable agreement comparable to a lease.^{1 4} Assisted Living is a service option for people with different levels and types of physical, behavioral, and cognitive support needs. The State approach to certify and reimburse ALRs according to beneficiaries' level of need is an effort to enhance the range of community-based services appropriately gauged to meet a fuller spectrum of beneficiary needs. R.I.G.L.

Certification

Under these provisions, ALRs will be certified at one of three levels or tiers (Facility Tier A, B, or C). Central to certification is the package of services that an ALR demonstrates it is equipped to provide to LTSS Medicaid beneficiaries. The new certification standards build upon existing ones. In addition to Facility Tier A (formerly known as 'Basic') and Facility Tier B (formerly known as 'Enhanced'), the State has added a specialized certification tier, Facility Tier C, for ALRs that are able to offer supportive services for beneficiaries with more complex needs.

Definitions

Transferring: When the participant must be assisted or lifted to another position. Transferring is defined as the physical ability to move between surfaces: from bed/chair to wheelchair, walker or standing position. This includes changes of position in wheelchair for pressure relief and or transfers to bed during the day secondary to poor sitting tolerance. This also includes changes of position in bed.

Assisted living residence means:

Any residence licensed by the state pursuant to R.I.G.L. §23.17-4 and regulated by the Department of Health (DOH) in accordance with R23-17.4-ALR. For the purposes of these Provider Certification Standards, "Assisted living" is considered a community setting and not a medical institution or health facility because assisted living does not include 24-hour skilled nursing care, residents have privacy including a lockable door, and the living environment is a homelike setting that promotes maximum dignity and independence, and, as appropriate, supervision, safety and security.

Certified Provider means the appropriately licensed assisted living residence or adult supportive-care residence that meets the standards for the CLSP under the auspices of the Integrated Care Initiative.

Certification Standards means the requirements an appropriately licensed residence must meet to participate in the CSLP.

Medication administration means the direct application of a prescribed medication, whether by injection, inhalation, ingestion, or any other means, to the body of a resident by a person legally authorized to do so.

Personal care services means the same as physical or verbal assistance with activities of daily living included under "personal care services" described in MCAR 1500 Personal care services do not include assistance with tasks that must be performed by a licensed health professional.

Person centered care plan means an individualized approach to planning that strives to place the individual at the center of decision making and supports an individual to share his/her desires and goals, to consider different options for support and to learn about the benefits and risks of each option.

Resident means a person residing in an assisted living residence or adult supportive care residence for whom Medicaid-funded services are paid for, in whole or in part, by the EOHHS or its contractual designee under a contract. For decision making purposes, the term "resident" includes the resident's legal representative or surrogate decision maker in accordance with state law or at the resident's request.

Specialized Medicaid Service Package means a set of services provided by an appropriately licensed ALR that includes the enhanced service package and an array of intensive services designed specifically to address dementia care needs.

Therapeutic Activities means a program of purposeful activities to meet the needs and interests that promote personal growth, enhance self-image, and/or improve and maintain the functioning level of the resident to the extent possible.

A resident must be capable of self-preservation in emergency situations, unless the facility meets a more stringent Life Safety Code as required under R.I. Gen. Laws § 23-17.4-6(b)(3). Persons needing medical or skilled nursing care, including daily professional observation and evaluation, as provided in a health care facility, and/or persons who are bedbound or in need of the assistance of more than one (1) person for ambulation are not appropriate to reside in assisted living residences. However, an established resident may receive daily skilled nursing care or therapy from a licensed health care provider for a condition that results from a temporary illness or injury for up to forty-five (45) days subject to an extension of additional days as approved by the Department, or if the resident is under the care of a Rhode Island licensed hospice agency provided the assisted living residence assumes responsibility for ensuring that the required care is received.
